

1) Wife of Bath: she was married five times, wore red stockings, and was a bit of a flirt.

2) Parson: he practiced what he preached, one of the few positive examples of a religious leader.

3) Knight: he followed chivalry, truth, honor, generousness, &
courtesy.

4) Pardoner: he sold papal pardons
and fake relics.

5) Host: he came up with the idea for each pilgrim to tell two stories on the way there and two on the way back.

6) Summoner: he was so frightening in appearance that children were scared of him.

7) Doctor: he worked with apothecaries, prescribing unnecessary medication to make more money.

8) Squire: he knew the way to sit a horse and ride, as well as make poems and recite.

9) Yeoman: he was a small landowner who was an avid hunter.

10) Skipper: he made his enemies walk the plank after defeating them.

11) Nun: she wore a pen that said
“Amor Vincit Omnia.”

12) Monk: he was a hunter, though it was considered ungodly, and he was fat and friendly.

13) Reeve: he was feared by all below him because he ran such a tight ship that no one ever caught him in arrears.

14) Plowman: he was a good, honest working man.

15) Miller: he was big, burly, and cheated people when the grain was good.

16) Manciple: he was a frugal fellow who could teach his betters much about staying out of debt.

17) Cook: he made good, thick soup
and baked tasty pies.

18) Franklin: he was a well-to-do landowner who always left his home
open for feasts.

19) Sergeant at Law (Lawyer): he was a lawyer who knew all the statutes by heart.

20) Oxford Cleric: he was a student who spent all his money and time on books.

21) Merchant: he appeared quite wealthy, though he was actually in debt.

22) Friar: he was jolly & merry, but swindled people out of their money.

23) Nun's Priests: no description –
there are three of them & they are traveling with the Nun.

THE END!